Let's Start!

I have my GPS ... we won't get lost!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about directions to places in a limited range of social situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about things to do or take on a trip.
- I can ask for and give directions.
- I can show interest.

Ask your partner:

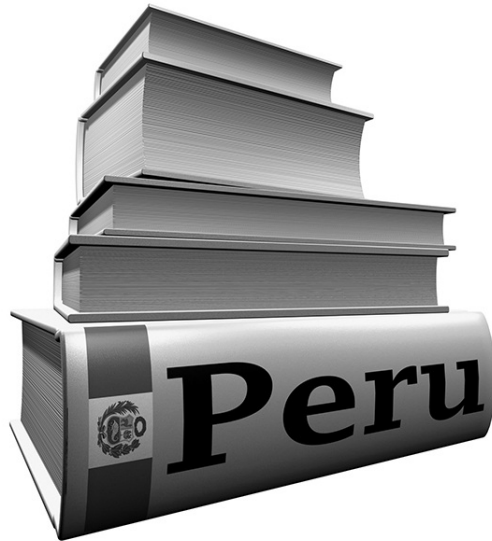

- What do you take with you on a trip?
- Your camera? A guidebook? Why?

Let's Explore!

John is on a walking tour of Lima. What is the oldest house in the Americas?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- John: On the right, you can see the Italian Museum of Art.
Tourist#1: Italian? Aren't we in Peru?
John: Yes, it seems odd, but it was a gift from Italy to Peru when it gained independence in 1921.
Tourist#1: Very interesting!
John: Yes, the museum has many examples of contemporary Italian art.
Tourist#2: I see in my guidebook that the oldest house in the Americas is in Lima.
John: Yes, Algia House. It was built in 1535.
Tourist#2: How do I get there?
John: Keep walking straight ahead. After the roundabout, turn left. Then take your first right and it's across from the park.
Tourist#2: I hope I don't get lost!
John: Me too! Please return to the ship by 9 p.m. We leave for Argentina next!
Tourist#1: I have my GPS with me - we won't be late!

Let's Practice!

What should I bring on my trip?

Instructions: Select all the correct answers.

What items do you take on a trip?

Learning Points

Showing Interest

To show interest in what another person is saying, you can ask questions. This shows that you are listening and want to know more about what that person said.

You can ask both Yes/No questions and Wh- Hw questions.

You can also make comments such as: Very interesting or How fascinating.

Examples:

- John: On the right, you can see the Italian Museum.
- Tourist: Italian? Aren't we in Peru?
- John: The Italians gave the museum as a gift.
- Tourist: Very interesting.
